

HEAVY LOSSES MARK BATTLE

Twelve Thousand Dead and Over Fifty Thousand Badly Wounded in Fight.

THE JAPANESE SHOWED GREAT COURAGE

Scaled Almost Inaccessible Heights in Face of a Galling Fire, and Drive Enemy From Position.

London, Oct. 22.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that the Russian general staff has received from Gen. Kourapatkin a report showing that the total number of Russian wounded taken over by the Red Cross and kindred departments since the beginning of the battle to Oct. 18 was 55,858. The number killed is unknown exactly, because many men are yet missing, but the total is estimated to have been 12,000.

According to a Mukden correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt, the feeling of the Russian army, in view of its immense losses, is one of gravity. It is felt that no end to the slaughter is yet visible, that no science of leadership can bring victory, and that in the struggle only the stronger will of the generals and the troops can prevail.

If the Tageblatt's correspondent is correctly informed the battle is liable to be renewed at any moment. He says the general Russian attack which the swollen Sha river heretofore has rendered impossible was planned for Thursday night, but the muddy state of the country and the renewal of the rain prevented it. The rains have ceased, however, and the roads are drying rapidly. Fresh Russian troops have been sent to the trenches and the struggle may begin again at any hour.

Kuroki's Narrow Escape.
The Standard's correspondent with Gen. Kuroki's army, telegraphing under date of Oct. 15, gives the details of several incidents of the battle around Shaho, including a story of the danger which threatened the Japanese right Oct. 11, when the Russians, in overwhelming numbers, practically surrounded the force detached to protect its right wing. He said it seemed at one time as if the Japanese would be turned and the protecting detachment would be so isolated that it could not be successful; but the indomitable courage and energy of the Japanese infantry saved the situation. On the morning of Oct. 12 the right column of the right army had made its communications secure, though the fighting was hard and the suffering heavy. In the end it completely routed the enemy, who left 2,500 dead on the field.

Sample of Jap Courage.
The correspondent, while fully recognizing the stern valor of the Russians, shows by his dispatches that he is continually becoming more impressed by the qualities of the Japanese infantry, whose courage, he says, only rises in the face of difficulties seemingly insuperable. He relates the following story of a Japanese attack on a hill:

"The slope up which they were creeping was painfully swept by a horizontal torrent of lead. The gallantry and tenacity of the enemy were as yet unshaken. If the position was to be carried the only hope lay in a supreme effort of self-sacrifice.

"Rising from the ground a company of infantry moved forward in open order across the bullet-swept slope and approached the summit. Instantly the Russians sprang from their trenches and from the crest of the hill and poured a succession of deadly volleys into the Japanese.

"The thin, dark line wavered under the blast, broke, and scattered back down the hill. But the handful of heroes rallied and again rushed headlong up the slope.

"Then they halted, re-formed, dashed on once more. With every foot ground they covered their numbers lessened, and once again they were swept back in confusion down the hillside.

Courage is Triumphant.
"But they had shown the way to others. Another company pushed up the slope. Again the volleys crashed out, but this time they were unavailing. There was a desperate, headlong rush, and the little men had gained the crest. The Russians rose to their feet and their stalwart figures could be seen outlined clearly against the sky." A few faces only separated them from their enemies.

"Then for a terrible moment the ranks closed in a wild melee, but it was only for a moment. The Russians, shaken by the carnage, broke headlong down the slope and fled. Their path was marked by the clouds of dust raised by the pursuing Japanese shells.

"The assault and defense alike was a brilliant feat of arms, in which the gallantry of the Russians was surpassed only by the devoted courage of the Japanese infantry."

Wait for Roads to Dry.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 22.—The rival armies of Russia and Japan, entrenched a short distance from each other south of the Shakhe river, are forced to continued inactivity until the fine weather now prevailing dries the sodden ground and the tired warriors are sufficiently rested to resume operations.

A dispatch from Mukden reports that the Russians Friday confined themselves to a bombardment of Shaho station and the adjoining village of Lamutung, the Japanese feebly responding. This news clears up an interesting point, and shows that Shaho station is not held by the Russians.

Russian correspondents report that some regiments of the Fifth Siberian corps have been engaged in slight skirmishes on the advance line the last few days. The fact that the First and Fifth Siberian were the only corps hitherto mentioned in reports of the fighting on Oct. 19 shows that Gen. Kourapatkin has sent the reserves to the trenches, giving other much tried corps a thorough rest. Meanwhile the Cossacks are raiding the Japanese lines.

Strengthen Port Arthur Siege.
London, Oct. 22.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Daily Mail says Gen. Samojil, commander of the garrison artillery at Port Arthur, has gone to Port Arthur to reinforce the heavy artillery. A part of the English division, that originally was intended to be employed in the invasion of Saghalien, has gone to Port Arthur.

It is stated again from the usual unverifiable sources that the Japanese artillery at Port Arthur has been greatly increased and that its fire is directed chiefly against the warships in the harbor.

While Admiral Wiren's fleet exists it is a constant menace to Admiral

Togo, who, it is said, is unable to relax his vigilance lest the Russian vessels make a sortie.

It is recognized that the Japanese need their entire fleet to meet the Baltic fleet, to say nothing of the desirability of overhauling the Russian ships before their arrival, which it is estimated will occur in ninety days. Hence the disablement of the remnant of the Russian warships in the harbor at Port Arthur is a paramount necessity.

Chicago Police Capture an Alleged Extortionist by Clever Ruse.

(Special by Scripps-Mellon.)
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22.—Charged with attempted extortion, Roger McDonnell, aged 22, was arrested last night by detectives at a spot. It is said by the police, that has been designated in a letter to Harlow Higginbotham, a prominent Chicago millionaire, demanding a deposit of $12,500 in cash under the penalty of having his residence blown up if he refused. Officers deposited a bag of papers at the appointed place and secured themselves. When McDonnell put in an appearance he was arrested. He is a hostler and denies connection with the plot. This is the third attempt to hold up Higginbotham.

(Special by Scripps-Mellon.)
Panama, Oct. 22.—The report of the fighting east of the Canal zone yesterday proves to have been a small invasion of Columbians and not a clash between Panama and United States marines. The Canal zone police will reinforce the marines and the Panama troops are ready to co-operate with the Americans in restoring order if necessary.

WAS HURLED FROM WHEEL IN DITCH

Brakeman Edward Swanick of Mendota, Illinois, Injured on North Bluff Street This Morning.

In attempting to avoid running into a carriage and frightening the horse behind which a woman and a little girl were riding, Edward Swanick of Mendota, Illinois, was injured seriously by being thrown from his wheel and landing on his back and shoulders in the ditch on North Bluff street this morning about ten o'clock.

Mr. Swanick was riding down Prospect avenue hill and nearing Bluff street when he noticed the carriage and was going at such a speed that he was unable to turn to save the woman and child from accident, he ran into the ditch which is about eighteen inches deep and falling from the bicycle he struck on some stones and was picked up unconscious by several people who happened along that way at the time. The injured man was taken into Mrs. Harris' boarding-house on the corner of Bluff street and Prospect avenue where he stays while in the city.

Dr. Pember, the company's physician, called. It was found that he was severely bruised and may have received internal injuries, though this is not considered doubtful, and is suffering with concussion of the brain. When he became conscious he asked if the wheel had been broken in anyway and immediately leaped into unconsciousness. He was simultaneously conscious and unconscious the rest of the morning and up to the time he was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Swanick is a brakeman on the Rock Island and Southern, the coal road of the St. Paul railway, and frequently has to stay in the city several days at a time. He will be unable to go back to work for awhile, though for how long cannot yet be ascertained.

HARD FIGHT BY OFFICERS

Attempt To Arrest Alleged Train Robbers Results in a Heavy Fight.

A BATTLE AT CLOSE QUARTERS

Men Open Fire on Detectives Who Invade Their Room, and Conflict Results in the Death of Three Men and Three Wounded.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 22.—The successful attempt of five detectives to arrest three men suspected of complicity in a recent train robbery at Centralia, Ill., resulted in a pitched battle Friday, in which two detectives and one suspect were slain and one officer and two suspected robbers were badly wounded.

The dead: Thomas Dwyer, detective; Al Rose, suspect; John J. Shea, detective.

The wounded: C. C. Blair, suspect, shot four times; critical. James McClusky, detective, shot through stomach; critical. Harry H. Vaughn, suspect, beaten about head; serious.

The shooting took place in the front room of a lodging house in Pine street which had been under surveillance for several days past. The detectives believed the inmates were participants in the hold-up of a train at Centralia, Ill., and were resolved to make arrests if possible.

Detectives Arrest Suspect.
Ten minutes before the fight took place Vaughn left the house. He was placed under arrest, and accompanied by their prisoner, the detectives re-entered the building. In the lead were Detectives Shea, McClusky and Dwyer, while Detectives Boyle and James, with Vaughn, marched in the rear.

Hardly had the detectives entered the room in which Rose and Blair were seated when they were met with a volley of shots from a heavy caliber revolver. Shea sank to the floor on the first shot and Dwyer followed almost instantly. Dwyer died in the hospital.

By that time the detectives had drawn their revolvers, and there was a deafening exchange of shots for several seconds, each man pulling the trigger of his weapon as rapidly as possible.

Detectives Beat Prisoner.
During the excitement, Vaughn attempted to escape from his captors and assist Rose and Blair. Boyle and James, however, clubbed their revolvers and beat their prisoner over the head until he was unconscious and then they went to the aid of Shea, Dwyer and McClusky, the latter having in the meanwhile fallen to the floor with a critical wound in the stomach.

One of the unwounded detectives summoned an ambulance and the wounded officers and suspects were taken to the city hospital.

As soon as news of the shooting reached Chief of Detectives Desmond he drove at a gallop to the hospital. There, after a brief consultation with his wounded men, he confined himself to Blair, the wounded suspect.

Blair Shoots Without Warning.
Blair made the statement that he, Rose and others had been seated in the room when the door was opened and the detectives entered.

Blair, observing that Detective Shea had his revolver drawn, pulled his own gun and emptied it into the faces of the invaders. He fired six times without a pause.

There were no misses, and so close were the suspects and detectives that the powder from Blair's gun burnt their clothes.

The raid was the result of a tip received by Detective Harry James. The Centralia holdup, which occurred about two months ago, was conducted by three men, who went through the Pullman sleepers of the world's fair train on the Illinois Central, robbing the passengers of a great deal of plunder.

THREATEN TO ATTACK PANAMA GOVERNMENT
Malcontent Citizens of the Republic Are Said to Be Ready to Open Hostilities.

Colon, Oct. 22.—News has reached here that 200 armed men, who are thought to be malcontent Panamanians, rather than Colombian soldiers, have been seen in the neighborhood of Culebra, threatening hostilities against the Panama government.

As soon as the American authorities of the canal zone became cognizant of this force marines were sent out to ascertain their purpose.

It is rumored that a skirmish occurred inland, in which several were killed, but there is no confirmation of this report.

Panama, Oct. 22.—General satisfaction is expressed in government circles here at the decision of President Roosevelt to send Secretary of War Taft to the isthmus for the purpose of definitely settling the extent of the jurisdiction of the United States over the canal zone, a question that for months past has been a source of unpleasant feeling between the United States and Panama. It is the general opinion that these matters should be settled effectively and immediately.

SEARS WIFE'S TONGUE WITH A RED-HOT IRON

McN Admits Brutality Toward Spouse That Places Him Outside the Pale of Human Beings.

Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Joseph G. Riley was arrested here, charged with murderously assaulting his wife at their home in this city. The woman is in a hospital and is not expected to live. In his cell Riley talked freely of the assault. He said that he had had a dispute with his wife over money matters.

He first attacked her with his fists, knocking her down. Then he stripped off her clothes and whipped her with the butt end of a heavy whip into insensibility. The flesh was horribly cut. He then thrust a hot iron into her mouth, burning away part of the tongue.

Riley also applied the iron to her body and kicked the unconscious woman. He then left the house. Recovering consciousness, the woman made her way to the home of a neighbor, who cared for her. Riley is held to await the result of his wife's injuries. The couple have been married ten years.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.
 "Whosoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye unto them."

"The business of this shop is to make men; the making of money is an incidental detail."

"Every man who is willing to work has a right to live. Divide up the day and give him a chance."

These were three mottoes which "Golden Rule" Jones hung up in his place of business in Toledo, and which he and his men really tried to live up to.

The late mayor of Toledo applied the Golden Rule in business and in politics, and actually made money and success, while at the same time he was developing character and "making men."

We wonder, says the Wall Street Journal, how his three mottoes would work if put in operation in Wall St. Instead of doing somebody and doing him good, which is the modern version or rather perversion, of the Golden Rule, suppose an actual trial was made on "Change of the law of doing as one wishes to be done by. Suppose, instead of regarding the making of money as the chief end of business, our bankers should act on the theory that the object of business was to make men, with such incidental making of money as did not interfere with the larger and higher end. Suppose that instead of the worship of success, which is the twentieth century American form of idolatry, we should discover that there is a kind of success which is really colossal failure, and a kind of failure that is the supremest success. Suppose that our captains of industry no longer regarding men as mere parts in a great machine, should act on the theory that the machine exists for men.

But what is the use of supposing such things? Jones was able to apply his "crank" notions in a small way in his little shop in Toledo, but the great operations of modern finance, of course, "can't be run on any such methods."

The late mayor Jones of Toledo, was an idealist of pronounced type. He happened to be engaged in a business of which he had a monopoly, and profits accumulated in spite of reckless expenditure and unwise and impractical charity.

He was popular with the masses because of his generous heart and open hand, but this did not constitute his expenditure and unwise and impractical charity.

 ho men in his employ received the best of treatment, liberal wages, and were granted an eight hour work day, long before this labor had become fashionable, but they did not appreciate the man or his golden rule methods.
 A friend, in speaking of the Jones industry, says that on a Christmas day not long ago, after every employee had received a present amounting to five per cent of his annual wages, that a committee of workmen called at his office and asked to see his books.

"The excuse offered was that they were skeptical about having received their share of the profits."

The friend asked if the request was granted, to which Mr. Jones replied, "No, I didn't dare to show my books because we had had a hard year and lost money and the present had been given out of my own pocket, and then he added:

"Poor fellows, they don't understand business, if they did they would be running shops of their own."

This is human nature the world over, and in the case of Mr. Jones the incident is a sorry comment on the second rule in his code which says:

"The business of this shop is to make men; the making of money is an incidental detail."

"He had been practicing this rule for 25 years, and the results of his experiments were not very satisfactory. The ideal was high, but adopted as a motto in the industrial world under existing conditions, it would result in complete demoralization."

The first business of every shop, he it large or small, is to do business on an honorable, upright basis. There is no sentiment about it, and in the average business there is no room for sentiment.

The making of money and not the making of men is the motive power which keeps the wheels of industry in motion, making it possible for self-respecting manhood to develop.

The man, or the company of men, who by thrift, ability and wise management is able to stem the tide of sharp competition and keep the factory doors open year after year, furnishing employment to honest labor at honest wages is a philanthropist of the best type.

The great rank and file of humanity works under direction. This is neither a misfortune nor a humiliation. The man who possesses the brain, the disposition, and the ability to furnish the work are the benefactors of the race, and if the time ever comes when false sentiment causes this class of men to lose sight of the fact that the making of money is necessary to existence, it will be a sorry day for humanity.

The making of men by wholesale has never been successfully accomplished and it never will be. You can't put 100 men in a church and turn out 100 models of humanity any more than you can put the same number of boys behind the counter and produce 100 merchants.

The making of a man depends very largely upon the man himself. The men in the employ of Mr. Jones were average men, and their loyalty to him was largely tinged with selfishness.

They took advantage of his good nature and realized that when they reached the age limit they would become pensioners of his bounty, by joining the ranks of forty old employees whom he was supporting.

Mayor Jones belonged to the class of men, which are now attracting attention in this country, known as advance thinkers, honest and sincere but erratic in the extreme. A conglomeration of populism, socialism, and ethical reform.

They talk about the oppressed masses, and the favored classes, the greed of wealth and the corruption of corporations. The government and municipal ownership of public utilities.

They may not endorse the doctrine of socialism in its entirety, but they are hovering on the edge, and would not regard it a great calamity if the wealth of the nation was equally distributed and every man was given his $2,500.

Advanced thinkers. A little too good for this world, but not quite ready for wings. They are a small but dangerous element. Wisconsin has a fair sample not far from home. If he is ever turned loose in complete control, it will be a sorry day for the state. Steffens and Wellman to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mayor Jones third rule, "Every man who is willing to work has a right to live. Divide up the day and give him a chance," reads like a poem, but there is more sentiment than common sense about it.

Many people are impressed with the notion that the world owes them a living, when the fact is that the world owes them nothing. The obligation in this country is on the other side.

Every man possessed of his faculties who is privileged to live on American soil, owes the world his best efforts.

There is a good deal of agitation in labor circles just now, about dividing up the day. Eight hours for labor, eight hours for recreation, and eight hours for sleep, but how about men who furnish employment? What do they know about a divided day? They may go home at six o'clock, but in many cases the factory goes with them, and the wheels are kept in motion because half the night is spent, not in rest, but planning for tomorrow.

NOTE.—Avoid baking powders made from alum. They look like pure powders, and may raise the cake, but alum is a poison and no one can eat food mixed with it without injury to health.

How about the men who are ambitious to get to the front from the ranks of labor. They have discovered that the men who win, are the men who give but little thought to a divided day, and that the captains of industry are never recruited from the ranks of disaffected toll.

Mayor Jones was a good man, but he was not a safe leader, and it is fortunate for the country that his appendix to the golden rule is not of divine origin.

If the national democratic party is as badly demoralized as the party in Wisconsin, there won't be enough left of it after election to wad a gun. The democratic press of the state has not yet discovered that there is a campaign.

Judge Cassady, in his minority report on the supreme court decision, is clear and convincing in argument, and his opinion is endorsed by Senator Spooner, who is recognized as high authority on legal arguments.

Mr. Bryan shows his populist tendencies by publishing Mr. Watson's letter in full and then stating that he will vote for Judge Parker in reference to Watson because a full vote against Roosevelt is better than half a vote. There is a good deal of this kind of loyalty in Wisconsin just now.

The democratic party has a good deal to say about militarism. With an argument representing less than one per cent of the population there is simply a pretext.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.
 Few People Know How Useful It Is In Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken to the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectively cleans and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says, "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas on the stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any ordinary charcoal tablets."

POLITICS PICKED FROM ALL OVER

DEMOCRATS ARE NOT LOSING MUCH TIME AT PRESENT.

WILL HAVE MORE MONEY

National Leaders Agree to Send Coin to Wisconsin to Help Win the Fight.

(By Staff Correspondent.) Milwaukee, Oct. 22.—Chairman Connor of the La Follette state committee is in Chicago today and it is understood that his visit there has two express purposes.

One is the terms of recognition which shall be granted the state ticket by speakers for the national ticket who are sent into the state by the national committee, and the other is a plan which the La Follette people have of trying to gain back the stalwart vote which they know is fast leaving their ticket.

The changes which have occurred in conditions in Wisconsin the last few days have thoroughly alarmed the La Follette people. They are sure that the extent of the revolt in the republican party is a great deal deeper than it was two years ago the halfbreed managers are now thoroughly aware. A plan has been hit upon which will render the assistance of the national committee of some material benefit, the halfbreeds think, to their cause.

It is the idea, it is said, a day or two before election to have letters sent from the republican national headquarters to a very large manufacturer in Wisconsin, who manufactures a tariff protected article, in which a strong appeal will be made that all the support possible be given to the republican ticket, both national and state, on the ground that the loss of either Wisconsin will be construed throughout the country as a blow at the protective policy.

In this way the governor sees a means by which he thinks the beneficiaries of the tariff can be gotten into line for the republican ticket while he himself is out through the state ignoring national issues and playing the other horn for votes by making a strong appeal for the support of democrats.

Democratic speeches throughout the state tonight are as follows:

Neal Brown, Elkhorn; P. H. Martin, Cuba City; J. M. Clancy, McFarland; M. K. Kelly, Washington Co.; W. F. Wolfe, Lancaster; M. L. Lucke, Madison; C. Gonski, Marinette; W. W. Gilman, Grant county; Wells M. Ruggles, Mattoon; F. J. Stiglauer, Fillmore; G. E. Schwandt, Fildford; Carl H. Paulus, Marathon; Hugo Freyer, Fond du Lac county; Dr. Lathrop, Tomah; Joseph Donnelly, Hudson; A. C. Schmidt, Lomira; Burr W. Jones, Tomah; Louis Bohmrich, Princeton; Jackson, Silbaugh, Vernon county; G. W. Peck, Omaha; J. Schmitz, Port Washington; T. M. Kearney, Jefferson; James A. Sheridan, Sullivan; James J. Seelye, Thelma; Owen A. Wells, Antigo; John Steele, Yuba; P. H. Lyrich, Little River; James L. Slayden, Sheboygan; E. J. Dempsey, Highland; Francis Cleary, Honey Creek; Webster P. Huntington, Lancaster; E. Markson, Phillips; J. Harrison Power, Sitger; J. Hamilton Lewis, Madison; John F. Kullig, North Creek; T. H. Hanna, Mosinee; A. J. Smith, Wau-paca county.

Ghost Walked

The "ghost has walked" at the Democratic congressional headquarters in Washington. The Belmont syndicate has hearkened to the cry for relief, and one of the states, it is understood, which money will be used in Wisconsin. Representative Charles Weiss lifted up his voice in clarion tones some weeks ago for money. His appeal, it is said, will now be granted. The boast is openly made at Democratic headquarters that Babcock will be defeated.

Jeffries Speech

M. G. Jeffries took the lid off of the La Follette administration in the presence of a crowded house at Mazomanie. With strong delivery he declared that the governor had misrepresented facts, stolen the state convention, bred discontent among the people, and that his administration was corrupt in nearly every department of it. The Bancroft pass case, book company deal, treasury case, insurance commissioners' graft, oil inspectors, and game wardens all were reviewed in such a manner as to reflect much credit on La Follette's administration. He said that while contending that we should have a primary election system so that the people could select their candidates, La Follette was unwilling to trust these same people with the election of the members of a railroad commission. In the former case La Follette claimed that if the people could select the candidates the corporations would be unable to control them; in the latter case he contended that if the people had the power to elect the members of the railroad rate commission, the corporations would control their action. This point was loudly applauded. The entire speech was well received and was frequently interrupted by applause. The mention of the names of Spooner, Quarles, and Roosevelt was loudly applauded.

Quarles Address

A large and enthusiastic audience of townspeople and delegations of republicans from Elkhorn, Denmark, Walworth and other neighboring towns, gave Senator Joseph V. Quarles a rousing welcome as he appeared on the stage of the opera-house at Delavan last night.

The senator first took up national issues, discussing the position of the administration upon the tariff, the Philippines, the Panama canal and other issues of national import. Coming to state issues, he began with the Madison convention in May, explaining in detail the positions of the republicans and La Follette's. Passing to the national convention he explained the action of that body by which it recognized the republican convention at Madison.

He then made a statement of the action of the supreme court of Wisconsin, wherein it decided by a majority opinion that it had no jurisdiction to entertain or decide the question as to the regularity of the two conventions at Madison. Throughout his speech the senator earnestly urged the importance of electing republican members of congress. His remarks were punctuated throughout with the ringing cheers and applause of the audience.

SMALL LEAGUE MUCH FAVORED

Rockford, Janesville, Beloit and Other Cities Would Be Included.

E. B. Gibson, auditor of the Rockford, Beloit & Janesville electric line, was in Rockford yesterday and between his business conversations had a little to offer to the Rockford people in the baseball way. "While we are not hoping to see Rockford beaten in the light in getting back into the Three-Base league we would like to see the Forest city in a position to become a member of a minor organization that might be formed and take in Beloit, Janesville, Madison, Freeport, Elgin, and any other cities nearby." The Janesville and Beloit people are looking for just such a chance, and from Madison there comes reports that the Wisconsin capital city would like to be in an organization that would have some good baseball. Mr. Gibson said he knew that Janesville and Beloit would favor the formation of a league, and there was little doubt but what there could be enough places secured to take memberships to make up an organization that would furnish a good article of ball for the fans. The Janesville people could be kept together and the evidences were that there would have to be a better agreement done to get up a better agreement. "The Rockford and Janesville line would be willing to assist in every way possible in the organization of a league," said Mr. Gibson, "and the park the line has fitted up at Yost's could be used as one of the playing grounds. If there was an organized league the park would be put in better shape and there is every evidence that the large attendance of the past summer could be carried on for the next year."

BELOIT MET THE LOCAL PLAYERS

TWO HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS FIGHT A CLEVER BATTLE.

ROOTERS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

Both Teams Playing the Best Kind of Football—Many Girls on the Side Lines.

This afternoon at Athletic field the first game of the high school football championship series is being played. Despite the raw cold wind and the threatening clouds a goodly number of rooters are assembled to urge their respective teams to victory. It was the county seat against the Line city, Beloit high school versus the Janesville high school, and the excitement was intense. Long before the teams came onto the field the side-lines were filled with a cheering howling crowd of Janesville and Beloit would win and Janesville was sure the local players were best. Good natured arguments were heard on every side. Football spirit was in the air. The crispness of the air put ginger into the players and if the side-liners were cold they did not know it, so intensely interested were they.

The Beloit contingent arrived in the city at noon. They were accompanied by a large crowd of rooters, but not as large as had been expected owing to the threatening weather. The team is a huffy lot of fellows and as they totted out onto the field for the preliminary work they were greeted by loud cheers from the Beloit supporters who had come to see the game. Janesville furnished the young lady rooters, though some Beloit girls had braved the elements and made a gay appearance.

The line-up as follows:
Beloit Position Janesville
Molstead, re. Feeley
Buckelridge, rt. Mahoney
J. Wickham, rg. Devlin
L. Cunningham, c. Lee
Hamm, lg. Gooden
Sheldon, lt. Carlo
Mattison, le. Ryan
Bedford, qb. Galbraith
R. Tenbly (Capt.), rb. Sennett
L. Tenbly, rhb. Caldwell
R. Tenbly, rhb. Wright
Beloit made her first touchdown in five minutes of play and before the first half closed had twice again crossed the coveted goal line, kicking all goals safely and rolling up a score of 18 to Janesville's 0. Janesville showed good offense, Carl repeatedly breaking through the visitors' line for good gains, but on defense the local boys were found wanting. Galbraith and Caldwell did heroic work for the locals and Melsted, fullback Tenbly, and Sheldon were stars for Beloit.
Final score, Beloit 28, Janesville 0.

WERE WEDDED IN CHICAGO THURSDAY

Rev. Mason Read Service for Carrie Belle Baldwin and C. A. Ballard.

Miss Carrie Belle Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Baldwin of this city, and C. A. Ballard were happily wedded in Chicago at four o'clock Thursday afternoon by Rev. Mason of St. Paul's church. The ceremony was witnessed only by the parents of the bride and a few other relatives of the contracting parties. The young couple will make their home on Jackson Park avenue, Chicago. Mr. Ballard is a conductor for the North-Western road between Chicago and Elroy. The bride is one of Janesville's fairest and most talented young ladies. For some time past she has been a teacher in the children's department of the Chicago Musical college as well as assistant organist and pianist in St. James' cathedral. That her musical talents are appreciated is evidenced by the fact that she not long ago refused a flattering offer to teach in the New England Conservatory at Boston. She will probably continue her musical work, retaining a few, at least, of her Janesville pupils. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin returned to Janesville last evening.

BANDS OF MERCY ANNUAL MEETING

Little Friends of the Helpless Crowd. High School Auditorium Last Night.

An audience that filled every available seat in the high school auditorium attended the annual meeting of the Bands of Mercy and Humane society last evening. Children composed the greater part of the gathering but there was a goodly sprinkling of older people. The evening was devoted to a declamatory contest for gold and two silver medals presented by Mrs. J. John Peters, Rev. Vaughan, Rev. Tippet, and S. K. Burnham acted as judges and at the close of the contest awarded the gold medal to Eva Killum of the Golden Rule band, who spoke on "How Christmas Came to Rocket," and the silver medals to Katherine Jeffris of the Webster band who spoke "The Nest in a Pocket," and May Granger of the Farnsworth band who spoke "Little Criss Bell." The contest lasted longer than expected and the humane society, on account of the lateness of the hour, deferred the annual meeting and election of officers until another time. The program opened with recitations "Autumn Bird" and "Crack the Whip" by the High School orchestra and the song chorus by the United Bands of Mercy. Other musical numbers with which the entertainment was interspersed were: "Fancies Dance" and "Chrysanthemum" by the 7th grade, Jefferson school; a violin solo by Mary Ludden; "Palmetto Mexican Serenade" by the High School orchestra, and the closing chorus "Fare Thee Well" by the United Bands of Mercy. For excellent work in the contest Willie Groat, Hazey Myhr, and Marie Viney, as well as the prize winners are deserving of special mention. The subjects and speakers were as follows: "Crippled Ben" by Lawrence Thiele of the Belmont band; "How Christmas Came to Rocket" by Eva Killum of the Golden Rule band; "The Kinship" by Willie Groat of the Fletcher band; "Modestness Mattie" by Hazel Harrington of the Helers of the Helpless; "The Croakers" by Ruth Taylor of the Adams band; "October Party" by Hazel Myhr of the Lincoln band; "Taps" by Frank Flaherty of the Millicent band; "How They Carried the Good News to Aix" by Violet Dreyer of the Woods band; "How Christmas Came to the Poor House" by Edith Soverrill of the Fallman band; "Heroic Animals" by Frank Behling of the Peters band; "Little Criss Bell" by May Granger of the Farnsworth band; "Both Sides" by Marie Viney of the Jackson band; "The Nest in a Pocket" by Katherine Jeffris of the Webster band; "Simon Grubb's Dream" by Martha Deley of the Douglas band; Rev. Acting Chief of Police John Brown this morning shot a dog belonging to Charles Schultz of the fire department which was believed to be afflicted with the rabies, he canine was quite a large black and tan beast weighing about 25 pounds. Yesterday afternoon it began to act queerly and bit several other dogs. This morning two girls living near the blind institute, in endeavoring to separate this dog from another with which it was fighting, were turned upon and badly bitten. A boy living on the Millstone hill and another lad on Western avenue were also bitten. Officer Brown found the dog in the yard of its owner and dispatched it with a revolver. FRESH OYSTERS

Extra large fresh bulk oysters for Sunday's dinner, 25c. plate.

Fried cakes—Get up tomorrow morning early for breakfast and just see how many fried cakes you can eat. If you can't eat six, then our fried cakes are no good. We are still selling at 10c a doz. If any of you have tried our fried cake recipe, printed in our ad a day or two ago, we should like to have report results to us; if you can heat us making fried cakes we should be tempted to offer you $100 a month if you can turn out 1,000 dozen a day for us.

Coffee cakes—several pans of them today, 10c each.

Dutch Java coffee, a 2-lb. tin for 45c. Many of the elite of the town use this coffee. Only 45c for a 2-lb. can.

Thick wheat rason, a 10-lb. sack 150c. buckwheat, 35c.

Robinson's Ohio maple syrup, gal. can, $1.25; 1/2 gal. can, 65c.

Test of Orange's Ripeness.

The riper an orange gets the more yellow it becomes. A dealer's test for a perfect orange is to press it as you would a hard rubber ball. If you can make a slight indentation by pressing hard, but the pulp remains firm enough to rebound, the orange is all right.

We do not recommend SUTHERLAND'S EAGLE EYE SALVE for the treatment of any parts other than the eyes, for which it is especially prepared.

CERTAINLY GOOD FOR THE EYES.

The E. E. Sutherland Medicine Co., Paducah, Ky.

Gentlemen—Enclosed I send you $1.00 for more of your Eagle Eye Salve. It is certainly good for the eyes; I have used two rubes on my little daughter's eyes and it has done more good than a seventy-dollar treatment in a hospital.

GUARD HEALTH

Every woman should see that the periodical function is kept in a healthy condition. The way is to take an occasional dose of Wine of Cardui.

Every woman is subject to conditions which bring on female weakness. Wine of Cardui gives women strength for all the duties of life. It gives them strong nerves and freedom from pains.

Wine of Cardui not only cures but guards the health. The organs quickly respond to the healing vegetable ingredients of which Wine of Cardui is composed. A healthy woman does well to take this medicine on approaching her periodical sickness. Wine of Cardui cures the worst cases of prolonged female troubles and has cured thousands of them quickly and completely in the privacy of home.

CINCINNATI, Miss., May 1, 1902.

Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught is a sure cure for all female diseases. I recommend your medicines to all my friends everywhere I go. Five months ago I could not walk across the house without great pain but I am well again. I have only taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui but feel better than I have felt in two years.

MRS. N. T. GLIDEWELL.

CHICAGO PLAYS NORTHWESTERN

Other Football Games That Are Being Contested East and West Today—

Madison Playing Drake.

In the west today there are no "big games" being played while in the east though there are no games of great importance there are several very close scores anticipated and the results will mean much to several of the smaller institutions. At Madison Drake will play the state university and the score should be about forty in favor of Wisconsin, while the games of most interest in the east are Carlisle Indians at Harvard which should be won by the latter team, and Columbia college at Pennsylvania which should be a victory for the New York eleven but by only a small score. Michigan and West Virginia are playing at Ann Arbor and the Wolverines should be easy victors. The game in Chicago between Northwestern and Chicago is expected to be a victory for the latter. Grinnell is playing Minnesota at Minneapolis and should result in a score of good size for the latter institution. The normal and University of Iowa contest today at the home of the university should be victorious for the latter. Notre Dame should win from Ohio state at the latter place. Knox is expected to be defeated at Nebraska. Indiana Medies it is thought will receive the same dose at DePauw and Simpson at Iowa state college. Beloit is booked to win from Northwestern college at Beloit. Hillsdale college from Adrian at Adrian and Michigan Agricultural from Albion at Albion. In the game between Case and Ohio state the latter eleven will win if they play as they did last Saturday at Ann Arbor. In the east Princeton should carry off the honors in the game with Lehigh at Princeton. Yale should win from West Point. Cornell from F. & M. at Cornell. Lafayette from Swarthmore at Lafayette. Wesleyan from Rutgers at Wesleyan. Williams from Hamilton at Hamilton. Dartmouth from Holy Cross at Holy Cross, and Brown from Amherst at Brown.

The Yellow Holly

By FERGUS HUME,
Author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," Etc.

Copyright, 1905, by G. W. Dillingham Company

"Admittedly that she was not born in the purple, she was in a good position and had no reason to run away with my father."

"She was in love with him, I believe."

"Even then she would not have eloped unless it was to be married."

Derrington nodded. "You are perfectly right," he said. "I tried to disbelieve in the marriage, but in my own heart I know there was one. I have believed very badly, George."

"You have, sir. But as we are now reconciled the less said about the thing the better. You are quite sure you do not know where the marriage was celebrated?"

"No, George. I do not. After the death of your father I tried to find out, but it was impossible. Had I really seen the register of the marriage I should have acknowledged you as my heir. As a matter of fact," added Derrington, with a burst of candor, "I did not trouble much to search, as I feared the marriage would be voided."

George wriggled in his seat. "Let us say no more," he said.

"Very good. I have confessed my sin, and I have received absolution from you. At the present moment we will leave the murder of your father at San Remo alone and come to the appearance of Mrs. Jersey in my life. You were with your grandfather Lockwood in Amelia square. I had constituted my second son my heir, and I had relegated to obscurity the escape of my son Percy. All was nicely settled. In my humble opinion, when Mrs. Jersey appeared to make trouble, that was eight years after your father's death."

"Where was she in the meantime?"

"I cannot say. She told me nothing of her history, but from a word or two which she let slip I believe she must have been in the United States. Why she went there from San Remo or for what reason I cannot say. She came here to see me—we had an interview in this very room—to demand money."

"What threat did she make?"

"She said that she knew where the marriage was celebrated, adding that if I did not give her an annuity she would go to Lockwood and help him to prove that you were my legitimate grandson and heir."

"Did she say if the marriage was celebrated in England or abroad?"

"No, sir. Mrs. Jersey was a remarkably clever woman, and if my son Percy had married her she would have made a man of him."

"Then she really was in love with my father?"

"Very deeply in love—as she told me herself. But she did not regard his memory with such veneration as to desire to aid his son. She was content that you should lose your rights, provided that I paid her an annuity. I tried in vain to learn from her where the marriage had been celebrated. She refused to open her mouth, so I allowed her an annuity of five hundred a year. I arranged that the money should be paid through my lawyers, and she vanished."

"Where to?"

"I can't say. She might have gone to rejoin Mr. Jersey if there ever was such a person. She sent a messenger regularly to the office of my lawyers for the money, but did not trouble me in any way. Her next appearance was shortly after the death of your grandfather."

"What did she want this time?"

"To set up a boarding house in Amelia square. She said that her life was lonely—a remark which made me think Mr. Jersey was a myth—and that she wanted company. I expect she learned in some way that I was buying old Lockwood's house."

THE FAMOUS BROILERS OF "THE ROYAL CHEF" WHICH APPEARS AT THE GRAND MONDAY NIGHT

Klaw & Erlanger's production of Harry B. Smith and Gus Kerker's new musical comedy spectacle, "The Billionaire" which will be presented in this city for the first time at the Myers Grand by a great cast headed by Thomas Q. Scarborough, is without doubt the greatest success in this style of entertainment ever presented on the stage. The story is attractive, full of action and witty dialogue, and the music is brilliant beyond description. The entire piece is all life, color, dash and snap. It is presented with cyclonic quickness of action and an auditor almost becomes dizzy trying to keep up with its dashing pace. Nothing to compare with "The Billionaire" in brilliant of stage pictures and for gorgeous costuming has even been presented in this country in the field of musical comedy. It is predicted by those who have seen the piece and who are familiar with it that "The Billionaire" will score one of the greatest successes in this city ever recorded by a musical farce.

"The Royal Chef," the merry musical comedy which comes to the Myers Grand on Monday and will serve to introduce to the theatregoers of this city Joseph S. Welsh whom New Yorkers claim as the best tenor in light opera today. It will be remembered that the song hit in Anna Field's production of "The Little Duchess" was the immortal "Violets." It was Mr. Welsh who introduced this beautiful musical number. In "The Royal Chef," Mr. Welsh has several songs that no doubt will be whistled, one especially "What Color Eyes Do You Love Best?" Unlike so many tenors, whose upper register is never certain, and who have little regard for singing on the key, he displays the effect of the teaching of the best masters of France and Italy, and his tones are as pure as a Caruso, and as robust as the younger De Reszke, and as a consequence, Mr. Welsh makes hosts of friends wherever he sings.
